Dion, awaiting the death penalty for the sex-murder of four young boys last spring, made his bid for freedom during an interview in the goveror's office. USED AS SHIELD

Dragging Mr. Letourneau vith him as a shield, Dion reached the Wolfe mon on the historic Plains of Abraham—where the prison is situ-ated—before two city police-men jumped him and clubbed him unconscious with their revolver butts.

Early reports said Mr. Le-tourness was in critical con-dition, but hospital authorities said later he was out of dan-

A Figure of Renown

WORLD capitals have reacted as might be expected in mourning and regret at the death of Jawa-harial Nehru, the first and only prime minister of India and acknowledged as a statesman of international renown.

To his own people Mr. Nehru was more than the political leader of his country; he was a figure venerated by millions who sought to touch the hem of his garment as a blessing to be treasured. The mantle of Gandhi was his, and the same ideals of human compassion were at the core of his life of burden and immense effort to lead India in tasks of vast social weal in a land of conflicting and age-did habits of thoughts and prejudice.

No one in India approaches his stature, either at home and abroad, and in a sense he is irreplacable. His loss is thus great for India and the world and there will be anxiety as to the role and influence of the successor who will take up the reins he has left

He said once that it was enough "that I have exhausted myself in India's task," and it was in that task throughout, first in the struggle for independence and later in guiding his country to a new orientation of society and unity, still yet to be consummated, that he spent himself and literally wore down his life.

There were times when his philosophy and actions puzzled his Western allies and friends, but his aim was to establish India as a leading Asiatic nation of neutral spirit notwithstanding the modern turmoils of international affairs. He held firmly to his belief in peace and moderation and strove to keep India free of one-sided commitments. Even the inroads of Chinese border aggression did not sway him from the paths of peace and conciliation.

Paramount to him was the development of the new India that fell to his charge, and the creation of it as a force for peace in international councils. Few if any others could have accomplished so much for the nation of which since 1947 he was the architect

It is a measure of the feelings for him in the land from which he won independence, and a reflection of the esteem in which he has been regarded elsewhere beyond the confines of his own country, that the British prime minister and Lord Montbatten, the decrey who paved the way for the separation of India from British rule, should fly immediately to attend his funeral.

A great man has passed from the human scene, one who brought honor to his race and to the unremitting search for world freedom.

Comforting

AGRICULTURE MINISTER Frank Richter has hastened to assure British Columbians that there is no need for alarm about the quality of the milk produced in the province, despite the statement of a federal food and drug official that pesticide counts in milk from the lower mainland have reached "significant level." One may conclude that there is broad margin of difference between significance, in the technical sense, and actual hazard to health.

It is gratifying and comforting however that Mr. Richter simultaneously has announced the government's intention to take several steps without delay to bring the use of pesticides in British Columbi under better control, firstly starting in a few days the testing of other B.C.-produced foods as well as milk for contamination of this sort in a new laboratory in Vancouver. No less welcome is the information that at the next session of the legislature an act to control the sale and use of pesticides will be introduced, and that in the meantime efforts will be made to achieve the same ends through education of food producers and handlers.

Details of the proposed legislation, it is understood, have not yet been fully worked out, but it is hoped that the act will encompass the purchase and indiscriminate use of dangerous chemicals on the domestic scene for the protection of gardeners and their neighbors, as well as the large-scale application of insect and vegetation killers in agriculture, forestry and other industry.

It might seem more advantageous were the projected law of national scope, instead of relating only to British Columbia. That may well come about in future. But pending more stringent restriction at the federal level of the employment of pesticides, the provincial government is meeting a distinct need by pushing ahead in this field.

The Rough Stuff

MR. GAGLARDI'S "Sorry for the Inconvenience" trademark or its equivalent is always a bit of a heart-dropper for the unforewarned, and the more worrisome when it gives no indication how much of the rough stuff lies ahead, although some of these signs, considerately, do.

The provincial road reports are always available, It is true, for the touring motorist, and these if consulted in advance can be most helpful in plotting courses and avoiding unpleasant surprises. But perhaps not too many vacationing travellers of British Columbia's highways think to use them.

With the tourist season starting, one wonders hence if the highways department would find it too costly or too troublesome to post the latest information on construction work ahead at or near the junctions or starting points of major roads in convenient locations for the perusal of motorists—at viewpoints, for instance, where these are handy—and especially where alternative routes are available?

MR. Harold E. Winch (Vancouver East): Perhaps it is advisable and necessary once in a while to pass an hour just as we are passing this one. However, I am not being facetious when I say that, to me, it seems extraordinary we should be spending one hour tonight to discuss the changing of some words on our currency which 99.999999 per cent of the people of Canada do not even know about-words that do not make any difference.

But they are a pretty good symbol of several things that are wrong about the gigantic American space program of the last few

The twin towers of Sugar Grove were to have held up the world's biggest relic-telescope, twice the size of Britain's Jodrell Bank. It was to have been the "Big Ear," that would pick up radio waves so faint that "their sources died millensiums (sic) before the earth was born." But the Big Ear never flapped in carnest. Even now, the party is confronted by no obvious threat from the confused political forces external to it. The chief danger still comes, as it always has done, from within.

It would plainly be fatal to the ambitions of many Conleaders if party disrup-were allowed to coincide tion were allowed to the emotional disturbances certain to occur among the Indian mea es in connec tion with Nehru's death.

This no doubt is why some Congress barons seem willing the succession and to unite be hind an inoffensive minister widely known for the Gandhian simplicity of his habits his devotion to the spirit uni life.

It's a plan embodying the concept of a breathing spell and may be intended simply to sure that the Congress Party will survive the post-Nehru danger period.

The chosen man is, of course,

Lel Bahadur Shastri. Meeting him is at once deeply agreeable and faintly erting. He is quite incredibly tiny. He wears a kurts something like a long collarless shirt-of gleaming white, so well starched that it sticks out around him like one of se covers the genteel used to put over telephones.

A bearer came in with two bottles of Coca-Cola, each with a straw sticking out of the neck. It was indescribably charming to watch the Minister with one leg tucked up on a cushionless couch contentedly sucking at his

The man generally thought to be heading the power bloc behind Shastri is equally remarkable, though for quite different reasons. He is Kumaraswami Kamarai, former Chief Minister of the State of Madras, who resigned under his own plan for the Gandhian "renunciation of power" and is now President of the Congress Party.

He has little of Nehru's magnetism. But in his company one has a lively awareness of controlled power. Like Shastri, he is 61. He's a bachelor and a teetotaller.

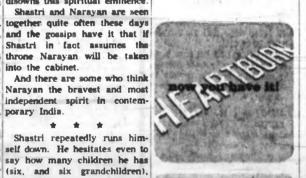

His language is Tamil and he speaks no Hindi, the tongue intended one day to bind all India together.

If Kamaraj becomes a power in the land, he will scarcely support those who would like India to be a Hindu State.

He began life as a coolie. He got some schooling, but much. He started in poli tics as one of the small boys sent round beating drums to announce an imminent Congreat meeting.

He made better progress in the movement than its unwary Madras leaders allowed themselves to observe. They put him up as a stooge candidate to distract a few of the voters in a close contest for officeinstead, he won.

From that moment long ago he has surged upward and has overthrown the most powerful men in the state. As chief minlater he ran Madras with a com-

Drive it like you hate it.

When Volvo came to Canada from Sweden in 1956. Chevy was the "hot one," Ford was the "safe one" and Volkswagen was just catching on as the "funny one." We'd like to say that Volvo immediately caught on as the "tough one." It didn't.

At first only the "car nuts" bought it. They figured that if a Volvo could hold up under Swedish driving (no highway speed limits), survive Swedish roads (80% unpaved), withstand Swedish winters (30° below), that a Volvo would hold up under anything.

They figured right. Volvos were driven right off showroom floors onto race tracks where they proceeded to win more races than any other compact ever made.

Volvos are still winning races. But that isn't why they're bought today. Volvos are now being used and misused as family cars. They're safe. And on the highway they run away from other popular-priced compacts in every speed range, yet get over 30 miles to the gallon like the little economy cars.

Volvo is now called the "tough one." And today, it's being built right here in Canada.

You can drive a Volvo like you hate it for as little as $2826°, Cheaper than psychiatry.

Wrestling may well be the oldest sport known to mankind but professional wrestling as we know it today is some-It delights many regularly, amuses some sporadically and disgusts others completely. Whatever your reaction it is something which should never be taken seriously. It is rank show business, and rank is often the right adjective in another sense, and under no circumstances should it be considered as a sport the way it is played on the profesional circuits. But, to our never-ending amazement, are those who consider it bona fide athletic competition.

Among them is Ron Martin, who writes in to request that we "devote some space weekly to the grappling action on the Pacific Coast." "I wish to inform you," he pens, "of a few facts per taining to the sport of professional wrestling. It is the largest spectator sport in the world; "(2) It has been proven many times that North American wrestling is not 'fake' by all authorities on the subject;

(3) It is the least publicized sport in the world." It beats me where Mr. Martin got his information. Wrestling is not even close to being the biggest spectator attraction in the field of muscular endeavor, being badly regard by soccer, horse-racing, and football, to name a few sports. And it has never been proven, by any authority not connected with it directly, that professional wrestling is anything today but show business with the results pre-determined according to what is best for the gate.

The above explains why Mr. Martin is right about the lack of publicity.

Mr. Martin states that while "many people call wrestling phony it has yet to be proved as such." I do not know just what the burden of proof involves but I'd like to try

Does anyone believe that matches featuring unfortunates such as midgets are serious athletic competitions decided on ability? Does anyone really believe that The Blimp or Haystack Calhoun or others with the same kind of glandular troubles could have really won one match against physically-fit opposition? Does anyone really believe that the huge, simple Primo Carnera was really good enough as a wrestler to become one of the many "world" champions wrestling always has?

Does anyone really believe that The Angel, that erudite, malformed Frenchman I remember best because he was barely able to negotiate the stairs leading to our office, really squeezed his opponents into submission? Does anyone really believe that the nine-men, or the upcoming five-women, over-the-top-rope matches, or the matches which have been wrestled in rings full of herring or mud, or something equally grotesque, can be taken seriously as a sporting event? Does anyone really believe that wrestlers are so physleally superior that they can wrestle seriously as often as four times a week and more than 150 times a year, and keep at it until they are 50 or 60 years of age if they are still able to attract customers?

And let's turn now to an established authority, Frenk Menke. In his Encyclopedia of Sports he has this to say about wrestling:
"Wrestling," he starts off, "can be divided into two categories, professional and amateur. category once had wide appeal but it gradually degenerated until today it is classified as an exhibition, to be viewed much as a farce or comedy.

". . . After (Frank) Gotch, wrestling started a trend toward showboating. The promoters were interested in money more than the art of wrestling and except for periodic outbursts toward the legitimate, it never returned to the respectable days of Gotch and (George) Hacken-schmidt. Today the professional phase has become strictly show busines currently there are countless claimants for the world heavyweight wrestling championship. Every box office trick is used to lure the people to arenas. The viewers have their heroes and despite the fact that one can almost always name the winner in advance, they are fanatic in their adulation of their idols . . .

Mr. Menke is so right, but wrestling can be entertaining on many an occasion and it is often amusing, particularly if you acquire the habit of watching the rabid spectators rather than the wrestlers. It is not difficult to recognize that such as Lou Thesz are exceptionally-gifted workmen and I cannot recall ever laughing harder than I did at the

Oscar-class acting of Red Berry.

It has also to be recognized that serious wrestling is to anyone but an absolute and doting expert just about the duliest affair there is in sports and that gimmicks and showmanship have to be added if wrestling is to be profitable. By all means attend, have your laughs, let off steam and otherwise enjoy yourselves but don't be upset if we don't treat it any more seriously than Wayne and Shuster or the Beverly Hillbillies, which it so often resembles. Your complaints should be forwarded to the fellow in charge of entertainment pages.

Personally I am basically an Establishment man, old-fashioned enough to believe in Queen, country and tradition. But guys hacking their way round public courses in braces do not offend me at all. As long as they love the game they are in the family as far as I'm concerned.

I explain all this for only one reason: I am about to deliver a blast and I do not, in any circumstances, want to be misunderstood or leave myself open to accusations of My target is the gimmick-mongers of golf . . . the promoters out to make a fast buck or achieve cheap publicity from a game for which they quite clearly do not have the alightest respect. Definition of Golf

Golf, let us explain once and for all, is a game consisting of driving, long-iron hitting, pitching and putting played over something between 5,000 and 7,000 yards of tricky terrain. It is man against man and man against course. It is sometimes man against man, course and tough weather conditions.

Anything else is not golf at all-particularly the latest American promotion which passes under the quite hideous title of the Putt-Putt Championship.

It comes to my notice that one John Charles Spotts, known as Spotty to his mates, has just won $10,000 in the United States for winning the title of an organization which has the audacity to call itself the Professional Putters

This is not all. This miserable pursuit has so caught the public imagination that by next year the top prize will be increased to $100,000 dollars.

This sort of rubbish I class with the Hollywood demand to have the Beethoven Emperor Concerto reduced to four minutes or Shakespeare's Macbeth condensed to four pages of typescript. In other words, cheep, vulgar and utilirly debasing the coinage of a great game.

Forever Sheer Luck

It follows hard on such other ludicrous events as the Short-Course Championships (in other words, pitching and putting) and the insistence on giving wast prizes to men who hole out in one—an achievement which will forever remain a matter of sheer luck.

The hole-in-one prize idea caught on in Britain two or three years ago and I only trust that the Putt-Putt Cham-pionship is turned back at the customs. Let the Americans phonomic in turned back at the customs. Let the Americans get on with it. Let us, outside America, continue to show a little more respect for the game.

"Yep, Dud," says advance-publicity I have seen for the American Putt-Putt-Championship, "If Junior wants to pick up some fast dough, buy him a putter and tell him to go to it."

This kind of publicity can do nuthing but damage to my profession and your game. Golf wants sharacter, color, guts, humor, technique, physique, and—most of all—the sense that you are belonging to a world-wide graternity of people who believe that it is the greatest sport in the

It does NOT want gimmickry. There is no such thing as Instant Golf and to divorce putting in an effort to present it as a public spectacle that can be taken in as a selfcontained sport is to defeat the whole object of the game. Yep, Dad, if your child talks about playing in a Putt-Putt event you have my permission to take his putter and break it across his ignoble head.

Ancient Tomb

AMMAN (Reuters) -Arche ologists excavating the site of ancient Dothan, in Jordan 60 north of Jerusalem have recovered nearly 2,400 chiects from a tomb con structed approximately 3,000 ...s ago, it was announced here Wednesday.

On March 30th, 1964, Royal Assent was given to a Private Member's Bill, changing the name 'Trans-Canada Air Lines' to "Air Canada". This Bill, after appropriate amendments, was passed by both the House of Commons and the Senate. The effective legal date of change will be proclaimed in due course by Governor-in-Council.

e, at TCA, welcome the decision to change the name of Canada's national airline to "Air Canada". This coincides with our own plans to establish a single, definitive name for the Company-accurately describing our true, international character and having the same meaning in Canada's two official languages.

Today we fly to a great many destinations beyond our Canadian borders. Our vast air network (now 37,000 route miles) reaches to Britain, Ireland and the major gateways of Europe... to the sunny islands of the Caribbean ... to the key cities of our neighbour south of the border.

It is obvious, then, that the name "Trans-Canada Air Lines" is no longer an adequate description—even though it was entirely appropriate when chosen, nearly three decades ago. Since its first operation in 1937, the Company has steadily grown with the nation and with the accelerated pace of international travel.

Continuous expansion has necessitated certain changes in our signature. As early as 1953, the words "Air Canada" were used along with "Trans-Canada Air Lines" in some parts of our system. By 1960; both names were being used simultaneously throughout the network: But even so, it soon became evident that a total change was advisable if we were to compete effectively in world air travel:

Much work is required before you will see "Air Canada" displayed on all our equipment and accessories...from planes to pencils. Although this work has begun it will be many months before the change will be physically completed.

It is not without regret that we say "good-bye" to our old name: However, we believe the fine reputation that "Trans-Canada Air Lines" has achieved over the years will carry forward with the name "Air Canada". In the meantime, for one of the few remaining times, please permit us a little nostalgia...and we will sign this in the old way:

who shies away from making a will? If you are, you are one of a large company. A survey taken by a trust c o m p a n y showed that seven out of 10 adult Canadians have made no will.

Even if you do have a will, it may be out of date. A professor of English, in his 60, and a widely-travelled person, was asked about his estate. "Oh, I've had a will for many years," he said. "Made it out in 1916 before I served in France!"

In the 40-odd years that intervened, the professor had acquired a wife, children and grandchildren; and he had built up a thread that he was actually invalid, having been drawn before his marriage. Your will, lawyers say, should be reviewed every two or three years.

A couple of generations ago the concept was that the time to make a will was when death threatened. In the old Prayer Book the pastor was called on to urge a sick person to put his affairs in order.

With today's fast-moving society, life situations of individuals change too quickly for such methods. Tr a ff if a ecidents, drownings, air travel, heart disease—disasters and sudden ill-messes—claim young and old, often leaving behind them, besides heartache, financial insecurity.

The long-awaited black ant hatch started Tuenday after room, continued at a allow pace through yesterday, and may hit its peak today.

The hatch is later than insual and has been brought on hy the warm spell, although cool nights seem to be making the hatch last over two or three days.

Verna Palliser of Lake Cowichan River Tuenday night, a little yesterday, and predicted that following 78-degree weather yesterday today may bring the ant hatch.

Trout go crazy during the ant hatch.

Trout go crazy during the ant hatch can feed voraciously.

Following the hatch they are inactive for two or three days and fishing slows up. The hitch comes about the ame time in all parts of the Island and yesterday Lew Deert reported a good hatch started at Campbell River.

Food Firms Get Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) —
The U.S. Food and Drug Administration warned Wednesday that it may seize vegetable oil products if they carry the word "paymenturated" on their labels.

Food and drug commis-sioner George Larrick said-this phrase tended to mislead consumers into thinking that the products would be helpful in treating or preventing heart and artery diseases.

'Not Equipped'

Municipalities Unable To Do Required Jobs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Municipalities are not equipped to do the job needed of them and should not be allowed to increase their percentage of tax take, says Prof. Philip White of the UBC faculty of B.C.

Mr. White, of the UBC faculty of commerce and business administration, speaking before the B.C. Chambur of Commerce convention said: "Municipalities are an historical accident, creatures of the provincial government."

Mr. White said big government is getting bigger and it's a good thing.

"You're either a big government man or a little government man," he said. "I'm a big government man."

He said that health, education and social welfare are beyond the scope of the municipal structure.

Geums Pay Rent

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In searching through the catalogues for interesting and attractive plants to furnish our perennial flower beds, one question we should always ask is-How long does the thing stay in bloom? Some of our most charming subjects are noing, and after their brief flush of color, contribute nothing but uninteresting fo-

The lily of the valley is a good example of what I mean. While this is a grand plant for the "wild" garden and in wooded areas, in a small garden where space is at a premium the dainty flowers and delicate fragrance are hardly enough to pay the rent-to justify the space they occupy—for the flowering period seldom lasts longer than 10 days out of the whole year.

The old-fashioned Bleeding Heart, too, ornaments our gardens for hardly more than two weeks out of the year, although the plant breeders have pro duced a new strain called Bountiful which blooms off and on all summer.

One of the most persistent bloomers of all our perennial flowers is the Geum, and I cannot understand why it is not more widely grown. It is a close relative of the strawberry, standing about strawberry it keeps on producing its brilliantly colored flowers from late spring right through until fall frosts put an end to the display.

With the possible exception of chickweed. I don't believe there is an easier plant to grow than the Geum. All it preference for a sandy loam, and a little water occasionally through the -it doesn't matter, although the flowers will be earlier and more profuse in a sumny spot.

The best known varieties are Mrs. Bradshaw, a vivid scarlet flower, and Lady Stratheden in butter yellow, and these are the ones most commonly grown where Geums are employed to furnish the perennial border. Newer and still somewhat scarce are Fire Opal, a danziling scarlet flower with an overlay of orange in the petals, and Orangeman. of orange in the petals, and Orangeman, bearing semi-double blossoms in bright

Geums are quite easy to raise from seed, and seeds of Mrs. Bradshaw and Lady Strathedon are available from local seedsmen for only a few cents per packet—I haven't seen seeds of Fire Opal or Orangeman listed; in fact, I true from seed. Seeds can be started any time through late spring or early summer, sowing in the greenhouse or coldframe, or even in a small outdoor seed bed, transplanting the young plants to their flowering positions next October, where they will bloom next year and every year thereafter. Like all border perennials, the clumps will need to be taken up and divided about every third

When incorporating Geum plants in the perennial flower bed, I like to set them in the ground in groups of three, with about a foot of spacing between the individual plants. In this way, each group of three plants will grow together to make a large clump with a solid mass of bloom. The scarlet and orange varieties are very effective sited in front blue flowers, while the yellow kinds go well with pink phlox and purple monks-

The Geum bears its flowers on stiff, wiry stems well up above the foliage, and the blooms are very much in demand for vase and howl arrangements The wiry stems are rather hard and don't take up water too readily unless they are bruised and crushed a little immediately after cutting.

If present plans jell, both our sons may go away to work this summer, and then to school next fall. Not far away; not so far away they can't come home weekends with their laundry, I'm told.

I was thinking about this the other day, not without a sense of imminent loss, when a frightful thought struck me. The garage!

What if they got away without cleaning out the garage! There were things down there I'd rather not even think about, much less see or touch. I got up enough courage to go down and make a survey. The garage has been a mystery to me for years. It was built to hold two cars easily, but we haven't been able to get even one car inside it since 1950.

I opened the door cautiously and poked my head in. It was murity inside. The air was heavy with the smell of grease and wood shavings; dust, rubber, paint and turpentine; sulphur and banana ofl.

The chemistry set was on a tier of shelves against one wall. That's what worried me most. There were dozens of vials with yellow labels. Sulfides, chlorides, acids, magnesium and mixtures of obscure and sinister I could only guess at the potential of these elements, isotopes and compounds, resting quietly now in their stoppered bottles. There were enough chemicals there, I was sure, to blow up the whole block. My eye fell on a row of bottles on the window ledge.

My blood pressure surged. This, I knew, was our younger son's collection of pickled specimens from the insect world, and God knows what else.

These monsters remained, in their still depths of alcohol, as glossy and fat and malevolent of eye as the day they were first dropped into their eternal baths. I shuddered. The door opened. It was the mad scien-

"What's up, Pa?" He said.

"I suppose you're going to leave me," I said, "with devil's workshop."

"Don't you want my chemical stuff?" he asked. "You could have it for a hobby." "I don't want it for a hobby or anything else," I said. "It has to go."

"It's going to be hard to get rid of," he said. "What do you mean?"

"Well, if you just dump it in the trash box, you're liable to get an unstable mixture, just by accident. "What do you mean by that?"

"You could have a reaction. It might blow up. I'm not saying it would. I'm just saying it might."

"I hadn't thought of that," I admitted. My hands had turned icy. "Can't you just sink it all in a tub of water?"
"You can't tell," he said. "If some of that stuff ever hit water it might go sky high."
"Then there's the radioactive dust," he said. "That's a "Radioactive dust!" I cried. "What do you mean!"

"Oh, it's probably not dangerous," he said, "as long as it's contained. I just wouldn't want to throw it away

So that's the way it is. They're going away and leaving us with a lot of bottled insects and a radioactive garage.

New York Land Firm

Suspended NEW YORK (AP) — The American Stock Exchange yesterday held up trading in three issues of Webb and Knapp. Inc., big real estate firm.

It said trading would be delayed pending dissemination of information following disclosure that Webb and Knapp had failed to make a $430,400 sinking fund payment due on its five per cent debentures last Monday.

Dial-a-Quote Grows Fast

The Toronto Stock Exchange now has 264 subscribers, situated between Victoria on the West and St. John's in the east to its "dial quote" system. This system, which went into operation a few weeks ago, connects subscribers by telephone type dialing to the Toronto Stock Exchange data processing centre. The "dial-quote" system uses the CN/CP trans microwave network, and it provides subscribers with instantaneous bid and asked quotations on leading shares on the Toronto exchange.

Grant Cut

President He is a native of Stratford, Ontario. Of IODE Amazed

FREDERICTON (CP)-Mrs. D. W. McGibbon, national president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, said Wednesday she was "amazed" at the news the City of Toronto cut their annual grant to the order by $1,000 because of their stand on the Red Ensign.

Toronto special grants committee cut their annual grant from $3,500 to $2,500 reached members of the IODE national executive here shortly after the close of their annual meeting.

PIVE YEARS IODE officials said they use the grant for administrative purposes. Toronto has given the grant to the order for the last five years. Regent of the municipal chapter of Toronto, Mrs. H. S. Mac-Millan, said she knew nothing about the action.

"However," I would be very surprised if the city council. who had given this grant for so many years to a patriotic organization, would use our stand on the flag as a reason to reduce our grant.' MAIN ISSUE

The flag has been the main issue of the five-day meeting. The IODE has strongly supported adoption of the Red Ensign as the Canadian flag since

It delights many regularly, amuses some sporadically and diagusts others completely. Whatever your reaction it is something which should never be taken seriously. It is rank show business, and rank is often the right adjective in another sense, and under no circumstances sonsidered as a sport the way it is played on the profes-sional circuits. But, to our never-ending amazement, there those who consider it bona fide athletic competition.

Among them is Ron Martin, who writes in to request

"(1) It is the largest spectator sport in the world. "(2) It has been proven many times that North American wreatling is not 'fake' by all authorities on the subject;

"(3) It is the least publicized sport in the world."

It beats me where Mr. Martin got his information.

Wrestling is not even close to being the higgest spectator attraction in the field of muscular endeavor, being badly outranked in that regard by soccer, basketball, bassball. has never been proven, by any authority not connected with it directly, that professional wrestling is anything today but show business with the results pre-determined according to

The above explains why Mr. Martin is right about the

Mr. Martin states that while "many people call wrestling phony it has yet to be proved as such." I do not know just what the burden of proof involves but I'd like to try Does anyone believe that matches featuring unfor-

could have really won one match against physically-fit Does anyone really believe that the huge, simple Primo Carners was really good enough as a wrestler to become one of the many "world" champions wrestling always has?

Does anyone really believe that The Angel, that erudite, malformed Frenchman I remember best because he was harely able to negotiate the stairs leading to our office, ly squeezed his opponents into submission?

Does anyone really believe that the nine-men, or the upcoming five-women, over-the-top-rope matches, or the matches which have been wrestled in rings full of herring or mud, or something equally grotesque, can be taken seriously as a sporting event?

Does anyone really believe that wrestlers are so physically superior that they can wrestle aeriously as often as four times a week and more than 150 times a year, and keep at it until they are 50 or 60 years of age if they are still able to attract customers?

And let's turn now to an established authority, Frenk Merke. In his Encyclopedia of Sports he has this to say about wrestling:

"Wrestling," he starts off, "can be divided into two categories, professional and amateur. The professional category once had wide appeal but it gradually degenerated until today it is classified as an exhibition, to be viewed

. After (Frank) Gotch, wrestling started a trend toward showboating. The promoters were interested in money more than the art of wrestling and except for periodic outbursts toward the legitimate, it never returned to the respectable days of Golch and (George) Hackenschmidt. Today the professional phase has become strictly show business

. currently there are countless claimants for the world heavyweight wrestling championship. Every box office trick is used to lure the people to arenas. The viewers have their heroes and despite the fact that one can almost always name the winner in advance, they are fanatic in their adulation of their idols . .

Mr. Menke is so right, but wrestling can be entertaining on many an occasion and it is often amusing, particularly if you acquire the habit of watching the rabid spectators rather than the wrestlers. It is not difficult to recognize that such as Lou These are exceptionally-gifted workmen and I cannot recall ever laughing harder than I did at the

and I cannot recall ever laughing harder than I did at the Oscar-class acting/of Red Berry.

It has also to be recognized that serious wrestling is to anyone but an absolute and doting expert just about the dullest affair there is in sports and that gimmicks and showmanship have to be added if wrestling is to be profitable. By all means attend, have your laughs, let off steam and otherwise enjoy yourselves but don't be upnet if we don't treat it any more seriously than Wayne and Shuster or the Beverly Hillbillies, which it so often resembles. Triple Slump Hits Agriculture

DUNCAN - Farmers all over the Island are saying three branches of agriculture—broiler growers, egg producers and dairy farmers—are experiencing a dangerous slump.

Hamish Mutter, a Duncan al-derman and an official of the Cowichan Creamary Association, has facts and figures on the problems of broiler growers and egg producers.

from drastically reduced prices which allow no profit and only very little lesway for labor or emergencies. * * *

The broiler growers' present price of 29 cents a pound pro-vides a bare existence, he says, and ogg producers are in a sim-ilar situation.

Feed costs about 21 cents per dozen and other costs include labor, usually a fairly high power bill and feed for small birds not yet ready for laying.

But he and officials of the Island Milk Producers Associa-tion my there are other prob-lems for dairy farmers, par-ticularly price problems, which have caused an unbalanced milk economy and forced some small operators out of business.

From West Kootenays

from 1962, show 289 licensed Island dairymen produced 67, 194,945 pounds of milk in 1962. * * *

Only seven years before, nearly 100 more operators— 379—produced nearly 15,000,-000 fewer pounds—53,002,236. In the same period, the price of hay rose to $45 a ton from $32 and the price of dairy feed grain jumped to $67 from $55. Those are increases of onethird or more, while the producer received less for milk. The price for a 10-gallon can of 3.5 per cent butterfat in 1955 was $5.80; last December, a similar can earned a producer $5.48.

Farmers understandably are bitter that groups which are ready enough to fight to improve their own standard of living are usually the groups who cry loudest when farm prices go up.

Bamfield 'Trek' Sunday

PORT ALBERNI - Many up Islanders are to leave here at 9 a.m. Sunday for a trek to Bamfield to celebrate the official opening of that village's first road link with this area.

A 40-passenger bus will trans-port Alberni Valley and Qualicum-Parksville people, while other Island centres are also expected to have representatives on the 60-odd-mile trip.

ACCESS BOUTE

The access road to Franklin River operations of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River is the first section of the route, which then follows Mac-Powell logging roads to Sarits.

The provincial government pushed through the last few miles of road to Bamfield last year, building a bridge over Pachena River.

Plans for the day at Bamfield include a tour of the village and a cruise to Cape Beale aboard the Lady Rose. Bamfield people will serve coffee and smoked salmon to guests at a picnic at Brady's Beach.

Beating Ends Escape

ERSTABS PRSONGE E

QUEBEC (CP)—Eugene Letourneau, 64, governor of the Quebec prison, was stabbed three times in the abdomen late Wednesday during an escape attempt by convicted murderer Leopold Dion.

Dion, awaiting the death penalty for the sex-murder of four young boys last spring, made his bid for freedom dur-ing an interview in the governor's office. USED AS SHIELD

Dragging Mr. Letourneau with him as a shield, Dion reached the Wolfe monument on the historic Plains of Abraham-where the prison is situated—before two city police-men jumped him and clubbed him unconscious with their rerolver butta.

Early reports said Mr. Le-tourneau was in critical con-dition, but hospital authorities said later he was out of dan-
